TO EXPLORE ALASKA.

Visit the Frozen Unknown.

Seattle, Wash., June 25.-A United States exploration party arrived in Dawson early in June on the way to Northern Alaska to explore one of the widest unknown areas in the vast territory. It is headed by W. C. Mendenhall, geologist, and D. L. Reaburn, topographer, who are accompanied by five men.

burn, topographer, who are accompanied by five men.

The party was to leave Dawson about June 10, going down the Yukon to Fort Hamilton by steamer, thence overland by the Dahl River trail to the middle fork of the Koyokuk to Bergman, where supplies were shipped for the party last year. Thence they go up one of the southward flowing tributaries of the Koyokuk, by the Alashuk, thence over the divide to the Kowak, and down the Kowak to Kotzebus Sound, opening into the Arctic Ocean a short distance north of Behring Strait.

This is the first Government party ever detailed to this field, which has been visited by but few white men. Mendenhall will gather the geological information and Reaburn will make maps of the country.

FIGHTING FOR FRANCHISES.

Street Car Interests and City of Chicago Clash.

Chicago, June 25 .- The Chicago street car interests to-day divulged their plan of cam-paign in the impending franchise war. Representing the Widener-Eikins-Whit-ney syndicate, W. L. Eikins of Philadelney syndicate. W. L. Elkins of Philadelphia began suit in the United States Circuit Court against the city of Chicago, the Chicago West Division Raliway Company, the West Chicago Street Raliway Company, the Union Traction Company, and the North Chicago City Raliway Company, asking the court to restrain the city from interfering with the operation of the West Chicago and North Chicago street car lines under the present charter. The plaintiff asks the court to declare that the companies became invested by the State with the franchises until 186, and that the city be restrained from forfeiting the charters July 30, 1903. This action means that the war is opened by the street car people, since the plaintiff represents the owners of all the former Yerkes surface properties.

Recently the city authorities have been forming plans for the proper disposition of the franchises after they shall have been forfeited, some of the city economists urging that the traction rights be either retained by the city or leased on a sliding scale of revenue to the municipality with "universal" transfers and a graduated fare.

PET DOGS KILLED IN EAST ST. LOUIS.

Six Canines Were Shot Monday Night in Brighton Place and Howe Avenue.

A number of East St. Louis children yes-terday morning called in vain for their dogs when they went out to play. In a number nces the dogs were found dead. Buland the children's elders remembered that they had heard shots in the night.

they had heard shots in the night.

Brighton place and Howe avenue were the places visited by the person with the revolver, and a half dozen canines were killed. The children of Charles B. Carroll of No. 511 Brighton place discovered that their big buil dog "Jack" had been shot twice in his legs. The animal was found half dead in the basement of the house by the children. "Jack" was the pride of Brighton place. Although he was the playfellow of all of the children and allowed them to haul him about by the ears and tail, he bears the record of never having been bested in a fight and of being slways on the kokout for a good-sized dog so that he could show his prowess. "Jack" never bothered a small dog. The Carroll children bound up the wounds of the dog, but it is thought the animal will have to be killed.

"Sport," a small house dog belonging to the Jost home by the Carroll children in their search for their dog. The animal was shot through the body.

Clinton lawies searched for an hour about his home on Howe avenue for his dog "Carlo" and found the animal in the lot in the rear of his home. A bullet caused this animal's death. Other dogs were "sound dead, but the names of their owners could not be learned.

Late in the afternoon the bodies of "Car" and "Sport" were buried in the let beween Brighton place and Howe avenue.

Relatives and friends of William Cheston of No. 2000 Garfield avenue, St. Louis, who disappeared from his home last Friday, yesterday afternoon declated that they did not think that the body of the man found in the clump of willows between East St. Louis and Brooklyn Sunday afternoon, was his.

It was impossible to make an identification by the features because of the decomposition caused by the hot weather, but the clothing did not quite taily with the description of that of Cheston, and it was further stated that Cheston wore underciothing, while the body of the unknown had on only half a suit. Deputy Coroner Brichler will make a more thorough investigation in the hope of making an identification of the body.

The body was disinterred at noon yesterday and viewed by the relatives and friends of Cheston. So far had decomposition gene, however, that identification was made impossible.

RESORT TO LAW TO REMOVE GUEST. Jacob Gregg Forced by Court to Leave Minturt's House.

A cuse wherein a guest had to be removed from the home of a friend by the process of the law, was tried in a Justice court at West Alton, Mo., yesterday. John Minturt, a well-known farmer on Missouri Point, was the plaintiff, and Jacob Gregg, a relative, was the defendant.

Several months ago Gregg, who had no regular home, went to West Alton to visit the Minturt family.

After a stay of a few weeks Gregg was invited to remain longer and was permitted to use an acre of ground on which to raise onlons. Last spring Minturt and family moved to St. Louis, leaving Gregg in possession of the house. This week they moved back to West Alton, and attempted to occupy their home, but, according to the allegations of the plaintiff, Gregg refused to vacate. As a result a suit was brought against Gregg, and yesterday a verdict was given by a jury in favor of Minturt.

MAY ASK FOR A REHEARING.

Attorney Fisse Said to Be Seeking

Reopening of Contest Case. Seorge W. Parker in the mayoralty

George W. Parker in the mayoralty contest proceedings said yesterday that there is a possibility that W. El Fisse, counsel for Lloyd in the Lloyd-Funkhouser contest case, may file a motion for a rehearing in the election case decided by Justice Marshall of the Suprems Court, Tuesday, June 18.

In the event the motion were filed, he said, a different phase might be placed on the mayoralty case. It had been practically agreed to drop the contest, he said, but no conference had been held between the contestant and his attorners.

Attorney Fisse was noncommittal when the subject of a motion for a rehearing in the Funkhouser case was mentioned. He would neither deny nor affirm it. Under the law he is entitled to ten days after the decision has been rendered in which to file a motion for a rehearing. If the motion is not filed before Friday, June 28, it will not be considered. It is expected that the Supreme Court will adjourn Saturday, June 26. If the motion were filed action on it would be delayed until the fall term.

PLEA FOR TRIBAL RIGHTS. Suit in Federal Court Growing Out

Ardmore, I. T., June 26.—In the United States Circuit Court the famous tax injunction case came up for hearing before Judge Hosea Townsend. The injunction suit grew out of the closing of several stores of noncitizens for refusing to pay the I-per-cent tribal tax.

District Attorney P. L. Soper spoke in behalf of the Government, contending that, notwithstanding the Atoka agreement, the Curtis bill and the late act of Congress which conferred the rights of American citisenship upon the Indians, the Indians still have the right to impose taxes upon merchants in the Territory. Judge Townsend reserved his decision.
